The company's latest release, Amibcp 4.5 (39) is the most recent, and most important new release to date. A new product release from Ami Technology is always an exciting event, and the company's latest release, Amibcp 4.5 (39), is no exception. The newest version of this popular computer program features a number of bug fixes and new features that make it even easier to complete work tasks efficiently and with minimal effort. According to Ami Technology president, Stephan Buerk, this latest version of the program has garnered positive reviews from many existing customers. "We're really excited about the feedback we've gotten on this latest version," said Buerk. "Our users love it." Amibcp 4.5 (39) features an array of new features including: - A customizable calendar so users can view their daily work schedule more easily than ever before. - An easy to use e-mail system that makes communicating with coworkers and clients easier than ever before.

Customers who have already upgraded to Amibcp 4.5 (39) are praising the company for its innovative approach to developing new technology for personal computers. "This is a great product," said customer John D. in a recent review, "I definitely recommend it." Customers who have yet to upgrade to Amibcp 4.5 (39) would be wise to do so sooner, rather than later. "The new version is great," said customer Marla C., "and if you don't upgrade soon you risk missing out on all the cool features."

 - A new function that allows users to take polls from their email inboxes for quick and convenient feedback from coworkers and clients. - A built-in calendar that allows users to record important dates easily for their own reference and convenience. - A new function that allows users to share screen data wirelessly.

New versions of Amibcp version 4.5 (39) are released every two months, and come with free upgrades for the first 12-month period after purchase. This feature makes Amibcp one of the most affordable, yet highly effective computer programs available on the market today. The price for these upgrades is tied directly to the product's overall selling price at retail, rather than per user or per month, as is customary among most similar programs. "You pay a price that covers the cost of the upgrade for the first 12 months," explained Buerk, "and then you have access to all previous updates. The price is really good value for money." In addition to this feature, Amibcp has a reputation as a powerful, yet user-friendly program. Customers have been praising the program's innovative approach to developing new technology for personal computers.

 - A totally customizable e-mail system that allows users to create and send customized messages or address lists with ease and efficiency. - A fun and exciting function that allows customers to study and brainstorm all sorts of topics using multiple choice questions.
